

Surizon Technologies

COMPANY PROFILE

Surizon Technologies is an international software intelligence company that is an integral partner to telecom operators. We enable mobile operators to optimize their network operations, lower costs and maximize their revenue.

With advanced software capabilities, Surizon Technologies provides operators with an objective, central and comprehensive view into the health and performance of their network to ensure operational robustness, enable rapid problem resolution and revenue optimization.

With our yield management facility, operators have countless opportunities to creatively and effectively optimize their network utilization and at the same time increase customer retention and revenue.

WHY SURIZON?

The Surizon brand represents leading edge solutions and excellent operational support.

- Run twice the size of the network with one third the number of people

Surizon is much more than a software company. We provide innovative solutions driven by network operator requirements. Our software integrates state of the art operational processes. Implementing them helps operators to effectively run twice the size of their network with one third the number of people.

- We build revenue fountains for our customers

Our flexible yield management solutions drive our customer's revenue growth. We apply experience and knowledge from other industries to enable operators to master the challenges faced by telecom operators today.

THE SURIZON WAY

Surizon adds value to its partners through three main business objectives:

- World class solutions that provides peace of mind to our customers
- Delighting customers through increasing their overall revenue
- Building long term customer relationships based on win-win principles
